TO ANNOUNCE EXPANSION PLANS BY END OF THIS MONTH

Rapido's Ownly set for 5-city rollout in 2-3 weeks

ANEES HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, July 22

RAPIDO'S FOOD DELIVERY platform Ownly is set to expand to Delhi NCR, Mumbai, Hyderabad, Pune and Chennai, moving beyond Bengaluru after running a nearly year-long pilot, according to sources aware of the development. The company is expected to announce the roll-out by the end of the month, with launches to follow over the next two to three weeks.

Rapido did not immediately respond to a request for comments at the time of going to press.

Ownly had launched a pilot project in Bengaluru in mid-August 2025 across Koramangala, HSR Layout and BTM Layout before expanding citywide on March 3.

The platform is built around a zero-commission proposition, mirroring Rapido's mobility business, where drivers pay a fixed subscription instead of a commission on each ride. This model was later adopted by Ola and Uber. Replicating that approach in food delivery, however, has proved more challenging.

Ownly has significantly reworked its business model since its initial pitch to restaurants in June 2025, under which restaurants were to bear delivery costs, with customers paying only the food price and GST. This later evolved into a tiered structure based on order value.

REWORKING BIZ MODELS

■ Food delivery platform Ownly is set to expand to Delhi NCR, Mumbai, Hyderabad, Pune and Chennai, moving beyond Bengaluru

■ The platform is built around a zero-commission proposition, mirroring Rapido's mobility business

■ The current model shifts the delivery fee entirely to customers, with plans to eventually move to a distance-based flat fee

Restaurants were to pay ₹50 for orders above ₹400 and ₹25 for orders between ₹100 and ₹400, while orders below ₹100 would see customers pay ₹20 and restaurants ₹10. Restaurant partners were, however, unwilling to absorb these costs.

The current model shifts the delivery fee entirely to customers, with plans to eventually move to a distance-based flat fee, according to people familiar with the matter. Even the Rs 30 delivery fee currently shown on the app is being waived to build traction, leaving Ownly with no revenue from either side of the marketplace.

The no-discount promise has gone the same way. Its original pitch was that the absence of commissions would allow restaurants to inflate online prices by matching in-store rates, making discounts unnecessary. Its launch campaign also promised no inflated menu pricing or misleading discounts. FE reported earlier this month that the app's home screen now carries a flat 25% discount for all users in Bengaluru.

The pivot has weighed on Ownly's unit economics. The per-order burn, which FE had earlier reported citing industry sources, at around ₹110 earlier, rose to ₹130-140 on the back of discounts, according to industry sources. The platform is currently handling over 10,000 orders a day in Bengaluru, the sources said.

Supply has also been uneven. FE reported in May that KFC and McDonald's had gone offline across Bengaluru pincodes after Ownly's integration with hyperlocal discovery platform Magicpin ran into technical issues. Ownly, which tied up with Magicpin in November 2025 to access its network of over 80,000 restaurants, has said it is working on integrating large quick-service restaurant chains directly. Zomato holds a stake of about 15% in Magicpin. The company said 25,000 restaurants were live on the platform as of early May.

Ownly is scheduled to hold a meeting with the National Restaurant Association of India (NRAI) in Bengaluru on July 29, where it is expected to present the progress of the pilot and outline its pricing strategy. NRAI, which worked with Ownly to develop the platform, has campaigned for years against food delivery aggregator commissions, which typically range from 15-30% of order value.

The expansion plans follow Rapido's $240-million funding round in May, led by Prosus, with participation from West Bridge and Accel, which valued the company at about $3 billion — nearly three times its valuation nine months earlier.

Bira 91 founder Ankur Jain steps down

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, July 22

BIRA 91 FOUNDER Ankur Jain has stepped down from the board and executive positions of the company's parent entity B9 Beverages, along with his family, after reaching a settlement with the craft beer maker's lenders and investors at the company.

In a three-page letter, dated July 21, to employees and stakeholders, Jain said the settlement — involving nearly 30 stakeholders with “genuinely different, often competing interests” — had taken months of painstaking negotiation to conclude.

“We have now reached that settlement. As part of it, my family and I will be stepping away — from the board, and from our executive positions — with immediate effect,” Jain posted on his LinkedIn account.

“Bira 91 needs fresh capital, a clear balance sheet, and a management team that can build the next phase without the weight of everything that came before,” Jain said, adding that he would support a smooth handover.

As part of the deal, both sides have agreed to withdraw all claims and litigation against each other, and the personal guarantees given over the years by Jain for corporate loans will be released.

TVS Motor mulls separation of financial services biz: Venu

FE BUREAU
Chennai, July 22

TVS MOTOR COMPANY will evaluate options, including a possible separation of its financial services business, at an appropriate time to unlock shareholder value, Chairman and Managing Director Sudarshan Venu said.

“Looking ahead, the company may at an appropriate time, in stages, guided by long-term strategic considerations, evaluate alternatives including a possible separation of the financial services business to further strengthen and unlock shareholder value,” Venu said during his virtual address at the company's 34th Annual General Meeting on Wednesday.

The TVS Venu Group's financial services portfolio includes TVS Credit Services and Home Credit India, both non-banking financial companies offering a range of lending solutions, including two-wheeler loans, consumer durable and mobile phone loans, tractor loans, used car loans and used commercial vehicle loans. TVS Credit Services is a direct subsidiary of TVS Motor, while Home Credit India is held by TVS Holdings.

The remarks come as the group continues to expand its presence in financial services. In May, TVS Motor announced it would acquire a minority stake of up to 9.9% in Bengaluru-based Jana Small Finance Bank (SFB), deepening its financial services play months after the TVS Venu Group entered the asset management business via acquisition of a 100% stake in PGIM India Asset Management.

“Our investment in Jana is part of this vision of financial services of an aspirational India. We see a lot of synergies and believe that the bank will do well, which is why we have made this investment,” Venu said.

He was responding to a shareholder's question on why the company chose to invest in Jana SFB, whose application for a universal banking licence was rejected by the RBI. TVS Credit Services reported a 15% year-on-year increase in profit after tax to ₹208 crore in the first quarter of FY27, while assets under management grew 19% year-on-year to ₹32,053 crore as of June 30, 2026.

Highlighting the firm's overall performance, Venu said TVS Motor clocked its strongest year on record, selling 5.89 million units and reporting revenue of ₹47,270 crore, consolidating its position as the world's third-largest two-wheeler manufacturer. International business contributed more than a quarter of revenue, with volumes rising to over 1.59 million units during the year.

“We believe in Africa and also Latin America and Asia as long-term strategic paths to growth and are entering the European market as well,” Venu said.

He noted that a majority of the population in these markets depends on two-wheelers for commuting, accessing healthcare and earning livelihoods.

Centre rebukes DGCA over conflict-of-interest lapses

ABHIJITH GANAPAVARAM
New Delhi, July 22

THE GOVERNMENT HAS reprimanded its aviation safety regulator for failing to guard against officials using their influence to help family members get jobs in the sector and for delays in disclosing such placements, government documents reviewed by Reuters show.

The Ministry of Civil Aviation (MoCA) has repeatedly challenged its safety body, the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), since mid-2025 over the handling of conflicts involving officials' relatives in airlines.

The concerns come at a critical time for the DGCA as it oversees one of the world's fastest-growing aviation markets while battling staffing shortages after a year of heightened scrutiny following an Air India Dreamliner crash, safety lapses at the

Simple Energy to launch family e-scooter in Sept

ELECTRIC TWO-WHEELER manufacturer Simple Energy is set to enter the family scooter segment in the domestic market with the unveiling of its maiden family electric scooter on September 2, the company said on Wednesday.

Developed through years of in-house research and engineering, the upcoming scooter reflects Simple Energy's focus on building products from first principles, the Bengaluru-based company said.

Engineered for everyday riders and families, the new scooter combines practicality, advanced technology and thoughtful design to deliver a differentiated ownership experience, it said.

The launch marks the next phase of the company's product strategy as it expands its portfolio while staying rooted in engineering excellence, purposeful innovation and customer-first product development, it said.

The company said its R&D capabilities span proprietary software, vehicle technologies, and advanced engineering solutions. It also claimed to be the first Indian OEM to commercially manufacture heavy rare earth-free electric motors.

MediaTek bets on AI, automotive as growth drivers

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, July 22

TAIWANESE FABLESS SEMI-CONDUCTOR firm MediaTek expects artificial intelligence (AI), automotive, high-performance computing (HPC) and AI PCs to emerge as its next major growth drivers globally, according to Anku Jain, managing director of MediaTek India.

The company is expanding investments beyond its traditional smartphone business into next-generation technologies, including 2-nanometre chip design, Wi-Fi 8, satellite communications, automotive solutions, AI PCs and high-performance computing, Jain said in an interaction with FE.

“AI will be a significant revenue contributor by the end of this year, with an even bigger contribution next year. Automotive, AI PCs and high-performance computing are also very promising areas for us,” he said. MediaTek held a 49% share of India's smartphone chipset market in the second quarter of calendar year 2026, a lead it has now held for 24 consecutive quarters, and intends to retain.

As part of its automotive push, the company now has more than 20 partnerships with automakers globally and over 190 ongoing projects under its Dimensity AX platform, as it expands its chip portfolio beyond smartphones into automotive and computing under a ‘One MediaTek’ strategy.

On the Indian market, Jain said the country's young demo-

India's current focus on legacy-node manufacturing is an important first step, but advanced-node fabrication will require considerably more time due to technological complexity, Jain added.

This comes as the Ministry of Electronics and IT (MeitY), under the India Semiconductor Mission (ISM) 2.0, has laid out plans to eventually move towards 7-nanometre and more advanced technologies after establishing domestic manufacturing capabilities.
